RVRC Symposium 2027
Beyond Borders: Shaping Sustainable Futures Together
29th – 31st January 2027

RVRC Symposium Chair
Mr Yeo Jaye Lin (NUS Class of 2027)

A very warm welcome to Ridge View Residential College and sunny Singapore! On behalf of the RVRC Symposium 2027 Organising Committee, I am delighted to welcome all our international delegates to this year's Symposium, themed Beyond Borders: Shaping Sustainable Futures Together.

This year's Symposium marks an exciting milestone for us as we welcome international delegates for the very first time. What began as a platform for students within our College to share their ideas and experiences has now grown into an opportunity to connect with fellow students from universities across Asia. We are incredibly excited to have you join us for this new chapter.

At the heart of RVRC are the two integrated themes of sustainability and workplace readiness. Through the Symposium's thematic tracks, ReSynergy and InSynergy, we aim to spark conversations, learn from one another, and explore how our experiences can contribute to shaping a more sustainable and inclusive future.

I would also like to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt appreciation to all our delegates for the time and effort you have put into preparing for the event. I am very much looking forward to seeing your posters and hearing your presentations, and to learn about the exciting projects you are involved in!

Beyond the presentations and discussions, I also hope that your time with us will be a memorable one. We have an exciting three-day programme lined up for you, we hope that you will leave the Symposium with meaningful connections that extend well beyond this event.

Once again, thank you very much for being part of RVRC Symposium 2027. We cannot wait to welcome you to our College, and I look forward to meeting you! See you in Singapore!

Warmest regards,
Jaye
Chair, RVRC Symposium 2027

RVRC Symposium 2027
Beyond Borders: Shaping Sustainable Futures Together

About

This year, the RVRC Symposium seeks to broaden its reach beyond the RVRC community and Singapore, creating opportunities for meaningful engagement with students and institutions across the region.

Beyond Borders: Shaping Sustainable Futures Together marks a new chapter for the RVRC Symposium as it evolves from a college-based platform into a regional stage for cross-institutional dialogue, collaboration, and collective action. Building on RVRC's pillars of sustainability and workplace readiness, this edition will bring together students, educators, and industry professionals from Singapore and across Asia. Through the exchange of research, practical insights, and lived experiences, the Symposium aims to foster meaningful discussions on social and environmental resilience. It also seeks to strengthen essential workplace competencies, including cross-cultural communication, critical thinking, and collaboration.

Beyond the Symposium itself, we hope to provide visiting delegates with opportunities to experience Singapore beyond the university campus. During their stay, delegates will visit selected destinations that showcase Singapore's vibrant arts and cultural landscape. These experiences will also highlight the country's efforts to integrate sustainability into a highly urbanised environment. Through these activities, delegates will gain a deeper understanding of how culture, creativity, sustainability, and urban development intersect in Singapore, while developing greater cultural awareness and adaptability.

Beyond the Symposium: Experiencing Singapore

Rooted in the Symposium's theme - Beyond Borders: Shaping Sustainable Futures Together, the programme immerses international delegates in Singapore's lived experience of balancing environmental sustainability with cultural and heritage preservation. Delegates will visit cultural landmarks, heritage sites, and green spaces that showcase how a densely urbanised city-state continues to protect what it values most: its environment, its history, and its people. Beyond the NUS campus, delegates are invited to engage authentically with Singapore via its arts, its communities, and its iconic spaces. These are not passive visits, but opportunities to ask questions, draw connections, and carry new perspectives home. The programme also reflects RVRC's commitment to fostering workplace readiness and soft skills via experiential learning and cross-cultural exchange. Through shared discovery, delegates from across Asia will build the cultural awareness and adaptability that define globally minded, future-ready changemakers.

Special Thanks

We would like to express our deepest appreciation and sincere gratitude to the Mrs Lee Chin Guan Trust (NUS) for the generous financial support extended towards the RVRC Symposium 2027. This grant has been instrumental in making this initiative possible, particularly in enabling select delegates from various partner universities in Asia to travel to Singapore and gather at RVRC for this meaningful regional exchange.

Through this support, the Symposium brings together students, educators, and partners from diverse backgrounds to exchange ideas on sustainability, resilience, and collective action. In line with RVRC's emphasis on workplace readiness, it also fosters essential skills such as cross-cultural communication, collaboration, and critical thinking. Beyond RVRC and Singapore, the Symposium seeks to strengthen regional partnerships, encourage meaningful dialogue, and build lasting connections across institutions.
